U. S. CAN'T CARRY WHOLE ENFORCEMENT LOAD

EACH COMMUNITY MUST POLICE SELF ON LOCAL LAWS

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT'S DUTY
EXPLAINED BY LINCOLN
C. ANDREWS

WILL ELIMINATE SOURCE OF SUPPLY AND TRAFFIC FROM ONE SECTION TO ANOTHER

Chicago, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The federal government cannot carry the burden of prohibition enforcement, each community must police itself so far as local law violations are concerned, Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury, in charge of prohibition enforcement, declared today in an address before the national convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America.

"The successful outcome of the prohibition law demands, on the part of the Anti-Saloon League, the Women's Christian Temperance Union and all other organizations interested in community welfare as affected by prohibition, that they seriously and vigorously resume the campaign designed to bring about a state of mind in the communities which not only believes in prohibition, but insists upon its observance and enforcement, particularly by those holding public office," Andrews said.

The federal government, Andrews asserted, will have done its full duty when it eliminates the sources of supply and the traffic in liquor from one section of the country to another.

Andrews said that the object of the recent reorganization of the government's forces was to "put more punch into the law enforcement." Close co-operation with the department of justice has been arranged, he pointed out, to make the machinery of enforcement efficient.

United States Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, the man who introduced in the senate the resolution to adopt the 18th amendment, was another speaker at today's session of the convention. He told the audience that prohibition is one of the most powerful forces for the promotion of the principles that have given our country leadership from the beginning of its history.

"No more vicious and more terrible menace to individual initiative, freedom and opportunity ever existed than the traffic in alcohol," Sheppard asserted.

"Not only must we have officers who will enforce prohibition in precinct, county, state and nation, but we must emphasize in church, school, college, home and forum the danger of beverage alcohol."

Sheppard warned against any compromise, such as the licensing of light wines and beer. This would mean the ultimate return of the saloon or its equivalent, he cautioned.

Rear Admiral F. C. Billard, commandant of the United States coast guard, addressed the convention, telling the delegates in detail how the coast guard is functioning in the matter of prohibition enforcement. He pointed out that it was impossible for him, as an officer in the service of the government, to discuss the merits or demerits of prohibition, that he was addressing the convention merely to give the delegates information regarding the activities of his branch of the service.

At noon Dr. A. J. Barton of Kansas City, Mo., delivered a memorial address in honor of William Jennings Bryan, one of the first and most prominent of temperance crusaders. A phonographic reproduction of an address by Bryan was given as part of the service.

Andrew J. Volstead, father of the prohibition law, addressed the convention last night, declaring that "there are more teeth in the Volstead law than many people think." He demanded exercise of some of the "sharper teeth."

"It is not necessary to obtain additional legislation," Volstead said, "to stop the use of illicit liquor. The present law provides for fining the purchaser and for a jail sentence running up to two years for repeated offenses. If this law were used to its fullest extent, and the buyers of rum were sent to jail as well as the peddlers, prohibition would be far more effective."

BRICK PLANT IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Red Wing, Minn., Nov. 7.—(UP)—Fire destroyed the Twin City Brick Company plant here today with loss estimated at $25,000.

The flames, which were discovered in the office building at 8 A. M., are thought to have started from an overheated stove.

The plant was owned by the Twin City Brick Company, St. Paul. It has been in operation for 15 years. Twenty-five men were employed.

Officials said it would not be rebuilt.

MORE ARRESTS FOLLOW IN PLOT AGAINST MUSSOLINI

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Rome, Nov. 7.—Delving throughout the nation for members of the anti-Fascist plot group which allegedly sought to kill Fascism's chieftain, Premier Mussolini, and overturn the Italian monarchy, police today placed eight persons under arrest at Genoa and detained 30 others.

At the same time, a brother of General Capello, the Masonic leader, held as an alleged leader of the tremendous conspiracy, was arrested at Naples, supposedly in connection with the plot. The brother was at one time a postal official.

The police are uncommunicative on their work but reports have claimed that two well known local doctors are among the group arrested at Genoa.

Rome, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The Popolo Di Roma, without confirmation from other sources, brings a persistent rumor that another army general, as well as a Unitarian Socialist deputy have been arrested in Turin, in connection with the plot to kill Premier Mussolini.

ZANIBONI IN CONFESSION OF MURDER PLOT

SAID HE INTENDED TO KILL
MUSSOLINI, DETHRONING
ITALIAN MONARCHY

SHOULDERS THE ENTIRE RE-SPONSIBILITY FOR THE PLOT

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Rome, Nov. 7.—Zaniboni, former deputy of the Unitarian Socialist party and trusted political adviser of the king of Italy, has confessed the plot to kill Premier Mussolini and dethrone the Italian monarchy, according to the police today.

Under grilling, proceeding constantly since he was taken, rifle in hand, from a hotel near the balcony where Mussolini spoke to Armistice Day throngs, Zaniboni shouldered the entire responsibility for the plot himself, it is said, and denied he had any accomplices.

Meantime, however, active police ferreting in several cities, tended to indicate that the plot had widespread ramifications.

Fifteen persons, more or less, were reported arrested in connection with the plot, while more were detained for questioning. The latest arrests were reported from Genoa. While names were concealed, it developed that two of the men held in Genoa were Giovanni Awdoso, editor of the Unitarian Socialist Daily Lavora, and Commander Acquirone, a prominent Free Mason.

Military occupied the premises of the paper.

From Leghorn tonight came word of the arrest of 50 persons there in raids. Included in the group taken was the Maximalist deputy, Capocchi.

SKELETON IDENTITY REMAINS MYSTERY

Bemidji, Minn., Nov. 7.—(UP)—Identity of a man whose bones were found in the woods a short distance from Farley was still a mystery today.

A pair of spectacles, the only clue, have led to a blind alley upon investigation. The case in which they were found bore the name of Dr. R. E. Peterson, Minneapolis optician.

The only glasses that correspond identically with those found near the body, according to his records, were sold to C. E. Fener, reported an inmate of a state institution at the present time.

Mrs. Axel Hjelm, Minneapolis, has told authorities the bones found are those of her brother, Peter Olson. His name does not appear in Dr. Peterson's records.

Washington, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Hope for agreement upon terms for settling Italy's $2,138,000,000 debt to the United States early next week, shortly after the two commissions reconvene Monday afternoon was expressed by a high member of the American commission today. An early agreement is quite possible he said.

Belief was expressed in other quarters Italians have communicated to Premier Mussolini the best terms which can be expected.

THREAT TO CLEAR COURT ROOM OF ALL SPECTATORS

JUDGE SPARKS RESENTS ANTI-STEPHENSON DEMONSTRATIONS MADE

ATTORNEYS IN OBERHOLTZER CASE ENGAGE IN PERSISTENT WRANGLING

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 7.—(UP)—A threat to clear all spectators from the court room for anti-Stephenson demonstrations was made by Judge Sparks today in the murder trial of D. C. Stephenson, Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry, for the death of Madge Oberholzer.

The crowd of spectators broke into wild cheering during cross examination of Dr. Vallery Allstock, a defense witness, by Ralph Kane, assistant prosecutor.

Judge Sparks pounded his gavel to restore order and warned that the room would be cleared if further outbursts occurred.

Repeatedly when the state has scored a point the sentiment against Stephenson among the spectators has been shown by loud demonstrations.

Judge Sparks also threatened to put Ralph Inman, chief attorney, and Kane out of the case for their persistent wrangling in defiance of the court.

The state attempted to discredit the evidence of Allstock, a dentist of Columbus, Ind., by asking him if he had not been "kicked out of the Ku Klux Klan for drunkenness."

Dr. Allstock had testified he saw Stephenson and Miss Oberholzer together in Columbus and that the girl asked him for alcohol to make highballs.

Defense attorneys put up strong objection to the state's questions and the crowd broke into a riotous demonstration. Judge Sparks still denied the demonstration.

Allstock denied he had been thrown out of the Klan and Kane launched into an attack on his testimony.

Again the crowd broke into cheers and Judge Sparks threatened to clear the court room.

"One reason they put you out of the Klan was because you belonged to Stephenson's faction, wasn't it?" Kane bellowed at the witness.

"They did not put him out, he's told you a dozen times," shouted Inman at Kane.

Judge Sparks branded the clash of the two attorneys as unprofessional and told them someone else could handle the case if they were unable to conduct themselves properly.

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 7.—What the defense regards as a direct blow at the story of Madge Oberholzer, that she was kidnapped by D. C. Stephenson, Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry, was struck today at the trial of the men for the death of the girl.

James Lambert, assistant manager for the Washington Hotel, Indianapolis, testified for the defense that he saw Miss Oberholzer sitting alone in a large automobile in front of the hotel on the night of March 15.

Miss Oberholzer conversed with him for a moment as he passed the machine, Lambert testified.

The dying statement of Miss Oberholzer, the keystone of the state's murder case, declared she was compelled to accompany Stephenson under threat of death if she resisted.

During the automobile ride from Stephenson's home to the Union station in Indianapolis, a revolver was held at her side and she was told she would be shot if she screamed, the dying statement asserted.

Before calling Lambert, the defense introduced several witnesses to show that Miss Oberholzer had been on friendly terms with the former Klan dragon for several months.

13 Witnesses are Examined at the Mitchell Courtmartial

Washington, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Thirteen of the 74 witnesses subpoenaed to testify at the courtmartial of Colonel William Mitchell were examined this morning by representative Frank Reid, Illinois, counsel for the flying colonel.

Prominent among those who were questioned by Reid were Mrs. Zachary Lansdowne, widow of the late commandant of the Shenandoah; Major General Amos A. Fries, chief of the chemical warfare service; Lieutenant Colonel Gerald C. Braut of the army general staff, and Major Reed Chambers and Major Carl Spatz, two American aces.

Mrs. Lansdowne was closeted with Reid and a stenographer for nearly an hour but no inkling of their discussion was revealed.

London, Nov. 7.—(UP)—With part of her superstructure crashed away by a terrific storm in mid-Atlantic, the Anglo-American Telegraph company's cable ship, Lord Kelvin, today sent forth an urgent call for aid, according to messages from Valentia and L'Orient today.

Besides sweeping off part of the superstructure, the storm was reported to have damaged the bow part of the saloon and deck house.

NEW SENSATION IN DR. BLASER UNUSUAL TRIAL

CHIEF DEFENSE COUNSEL MAY ASK REMOVAL OF DISTRICT
PROSECUTOR

4TH DAY OF TRIAL OPENS IN DRAB LITTLE COURTROOM
IN COLORADO

By STANLEY WHITAKER
United Press Staff Correspondent
Littleton, Colo., Nov. 7.—Charging the prosecution with attempts to sway public opinion to bring about conviction of Dr. Harold E. Blaser, aged physician, on trial for the murder of his inebriate daughter, Hazel, 32 years old, Lewis Mowry, chief defense counsel, today indicated he might ask removal of District Attorney Hoel Stone as prosecutor.

Mowry's charges gave hints of a new sensation as the fourth day of the trial opened in the drab little courtroom of the Arapahoe county court house.

The defense counsel's charges are based on public statements he said Stone made relative to the case.

"The actions of the district attorney in attempting to prejudice public opinion to the trial are without precedent in the history of jurisprudence," Mowry told the United Press today.

"District Attorney Stone has made public statements in an effort to sway public opinion and bring about conviction of my client. In a statement appearing under his name, Stone said he would resist injection of 'maudlin sympathy' in the case."

"Ethical jurisprudence frowns upon trying any case in the public press," Mowry said.

With completion of a jury and taking of testimony underway, the defense was elated today over testimony of Dr. Hugh B. Aldredge, state witness. Aldredge said that Blaser might have been insane when he administered chloroform to his helpless daughter as a merciful act.

Roy E. Bishop, the aged defendant's son-in-law, testified he had attempted to feed the invalid daughter and had failed, adding that the girl would permit only her father to administer premeditated food.

The state has indicated it will attempt to convict Dr. Blaser on the ground that no one has the right to take a human life and that the imbecile daughter "suffered the same torments, the same agony, the same pain, mental and physical, as any other normal persons when the deadly poison was forced into her system."

PAINLEVE GETS CABINET APPROVAL ON FRENCH FINANCE

By A. L. BRADFORD
United Press Staff Correspondent
Paris, Nov. 7.—Premier Painleve, still facing extremely delicate politics, today sought and obtained from his cabinet its approval on his financial projects with which he hopes to rescue France's jumbled finance problems.

The proposal, by some termed a capital levy scheme, centers around an "exceptional tax" on all private wealth which can be paid immediately or in annual installments over a period of 12 years. The receipts thus obtained would go into a sinking fund designed to meet France's obligations and stem the growing paper money flood.

The Bank of Paris will contribute 4,000,000,000 to 5,000,000,000 francs to the sinking fund, which will be repaid as the fund grows.

The plan differs from that of the deposed finance minister, Caillaux, in that it makes a direct tax on wealth whereas Caillaux wanted increased general taxation. Painleve is hopeful that with this scheme he can face the chamber and secure its support. Probably the chamber will take up the plan Monday.

Despite Painleve's hopes, however, it was still pointed out that his position is precarious.

REBELS GROW BOLDER IN THE DAMASCUS AREA

APPARENTLY DETERMINED TO AVENGE SELVES FOR FRENCH
BOMBARDMENT

HOMS, NORTH OF DAMASCUS, IN DANGER OF REBEL
CAPTURE

Capture of Deraa, southwest of Damascus, was again reported. Homs, north of Damascus, is reported in imminent danger of falling to the insurgents.

The Ruala tribes previously pro-French are reported to have decided to join the guerrillas who have organized "explosion" units for blowing up railways and bridges. Damascus authorities have arrested 260 notables, many of whom protected the Christian quarters when the rebels recently entered the city.

FEDERAL TAX LAWS REVISED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC TAX LEADERS IN HOUSE
REACH ACCORD

NORMAL TAXES TO BE SLASHED, EXEMPTIONS RAISED, SUB-TAXES CUT

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 7.—(UP)—President Coolidge is pleased generally with tax revision steps taken by the house ways and means committee in revising the federal tax laws. This word was brought from the White House today by Representative John Q. Tilson, Connecticut, republican floor leader. Tilson did not discuss the tax in detail but he told of the president's expressed pleasure over the quick agreement upon drastic reductions.

Both republican and democratic tax leaders in the house of representatives today were in enthusiastic accord on the nearly completed federal tax revision bill which the ways and means committee is drafting.

The house committee without dissent in two days has agreed to repeal the income tax publicity provision, cut surtaxes from 40 to 20 per cent maximum; slash normal taxes and raise exemptions; split estate taxes almost in half; provided that states can collect and keep 80 per cent of the federal estate tax and has retained the capital stock and corporation taxes as well as establishing other sweeping tax policies.

Chairman Green of Iowa, republican, today announced unqualified support for the bill and Representative Garner, Texas, ranking democratic member and minority leader, echoed his words.

GLEEMANS IN COURT FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The fight for freedom of Ben and Abe Gleeman, convicted of murdering Burt Stevens, alleged hijacker, on February 16, and now serving life sentences for the crime, began in district court today.

Before a crowd of spectators that jammed the room, affidavits were read charging Morrie Miller, St. Louis gunman, with the killing for which the Gleemans are paying the penalty.

Statements of eye witnesses were next presented to substantiate the Gleemans' affidavits. Much of the testimony given at the first two trials of the convicts was refuted.

The affidavits presented in court created a sensation this fall when first filed. They charge the two Gleemans were sent to prison to protect "higher ups" in the bootleg ring for which they worked prior to the murder.

Abe Ginsberg, Minneapolis attorney, faces subornation of perjury charges as result of the affidavits. Some named have fled the Twin Cities. Still others are held for perjury in the first trials.

The case was continued until next Saturday after presentation of statements.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF YOUNG BOY PLEADS NOT GUILTY

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—(UP)—William Brandt, alleged slayer of Francis Pioletti, 11 year old Italian boy, pleaded not guilty to a first degree murder charge and his trial was set for October 16 in district court today.

Brandt was arraigned after three physicians submitted reports declaring he is neither insane nor feeble minded. The reports gave the allegedly confessed murderer a mental rating of 10 years and eight months and adjudged him competent to stand trial.

The murder which police say Brandt confessed was one of the most fiendish in police records. The victim's body was found beaten and slashed in the attic of a deserted house last month.

"They did not put him out, he's told you a dozen times," shouted Inman at Kane.

Judge Sparks branded the clash of the two attorneys as unprofessional and told them someone else could handle the case if they were unable to conduct themselves properly.

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 7.—What the defense regards as a direct blow at the story of Madge Oberholzer, that she was kidnapped by D. C. Stephenson, Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry, was struck today at the trial of the men for the death of the girl. James Lambert, assistant manager for the Washington Hotel, Indianapolis, testified for the defense that he saw Miss Oberholzer sitting alone in a large automobile in front of the hotel on the night of March 15.

Miss Oberholzer conversed with him for a moment as he passed the machine, Lambert testified.

The dying statement of Miss Oberholzer, the keystone of the state's murder case, declared she was compelled to accompany Stephenson under threat of death if she resisted.

During the automobile ride from Stephenson's home to the Union station in Indianapolis, a revolver was held at her side and she was told she would be shot if she screamed, the dying statement asserted.

Before calling Lambert, the defense introduced several witnesses to show that Miss Oberholzer had been on friendly terms with the former Klan dragon for several months.

Fries, chief of the chemical warfare service; Lieutenant Colonel Gerald C. Brant of the army general staff, and Major Reed Chambers and Major Carl Spatz, two American aces.

Mrs. Lansdowne was closeted with Reid and a stenographer for nearly an hour but no inkling of their discussion was revealed.

NEW SENSATION IN DR. BLASER UNUSUAL TRIAL

CHIEF DEFENSE COUNSEL MAY ASK REMOVAL OF DISTRICT PROSECUTOR

4TH DAY OF TRIAL OPENS IN DRAB LITTLE COURTROOM IN COLORADO

By STANLEY WHITAKER
United Press Staff Correspondent
Littleton, Colo., Nov. 7.—Charging the prosecution with attempts to sway public opinion to bring about conviction of Dr. Harold E. Blaser, aged physician, on trial for the murder of his inebriate daughter, Hazel, 32 years old, Lewis Mowry, chief defense counsel, today indicated he might ask removal of District Attorney Hoel Stone as prosecutor.

Mowry's charges gave hints of a new sensation as the fourth day of the trial opened in the drab little courtroom of the Arapahoe county court house.

The defense counsel's charges are based on public statements he said Stone made relative to the case.

"The actions of the district attorney in attempting to prejudice public opinion to the trial are without precedent in the history of jurisprudence," Mowry told the United Press today.

"District Attorney Stone has made public statements in an effort to sway public opinion and bring about conviction of my client. In a statement appearing under his name, Stone said he would resist injection of 'maudlin sympathy' in the case."

"Ethical jurisprudence frowns upon trying any case in the public press," Mowry said.

With completion of a jury and taking of testimony underway, the defense was slated today over testimony of Dr. Hugh B. Aldredge, state witness. Aldredge said that Blaser might have been insane when he administered chloroform to his helpless daughter as a merciful act.

Roy E. Bishop, the aged defendant's son-in-law, testified he had attempted to feed the invalid daughter and had failed, adding that the girl would permit only her father to administer pre-masticated food.

The state has indicated it will attempt to convict Dr. Blaser on the ground that no one has the right to take a human life and that the inebriate daughter "suffered the same pain, mental and physical, as any other normal persons when the deadly poison was forced into her system."

Wars to Prevail as Long as War System is Legal Milwaukee, Nov. 7.—(UP)—"So long as the war system is legal we shall have wars," Raymond Robins, Chicago social worker, declared in addressing the Wisconsin School Teachers' association in convention here.

Two generations ago the slave question was the issue. One generation ago the saloon question was the issue while today the war system has become the issue," said Robins. "Christian civilization and the war system cannot both survive."

HIGHEST STANDARD LIVING CONDITIONS REACHED IN U. S.

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE HOOVER REVIEWS BUSINESS THIS YEAR

UNPRECEDENTED ERA IN NATION'S ACTIVITY IS PRESAGED

By S. P. HOLLINGSWORTH
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, Nov. 7.—The highest standard of living conditions ever reached "in all history" marks the economic progress of the United States in 1925, Secretary of Commerce Hoover declared in a review of business conditions in his annual report made public today.

Hoover sees outstanding signs of an unprecedented era in the nation's activity, high rate of production, consumption and exports; high real wages; absence of any consequent unemployment; continued growing efficiency in management and labor and continued expansion in application of scientific discovery in such fields as electric power and light, the gas engine and radio.

Progress lagged in "industrial patches," however, Hoover said, mentioning the New England textile industry, some agricultural sections and the bituminous coal industry.

DITCH CAVES IN; KILLS 1, HURTS 3
Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 7.—(UP)—One man was killed, one seriously injured and three others narrowly escaped serious injury when a ditch in which they were working caved in.

It is believed vibrations caused by traffic on a road near the ditch in which the men were working was the cause of the cave in.

Gabler was arrested and the money recovered four hours after the robbery yesterday.

Gabler was in desperate financial straits and faced the alternative of arrest for failure to pay a $1,000 federal liquor fine and his income tax, so chose the role of banditry.

PAINLEVE GETS CABINET APPROVAL ON FRENCH FINANCE

By A. L. BRADFORD
United Press Staff Correspondent
Paris, Nov. 7.—Premier Painleve, still facing extremely delicate politics, today sought and obtained from his cabinet its approval on his financial projects with which he hopes to rescue France's jumbled finance problems.

The proposal, by some termed a capital levy scheme, centers around an "exceptional tax" on all private wealth which can be paid immediately or in annual installments over a period of 12 years. The receipts thus obtained would go into a sinking fund designed to meet France's obligations and stem the growing paper money flood.

The Bank of Paris will contribute 4,000,000,000 to 5,000,000,000 francs to the sinking fund, which will be repaid as the fund grows.

The plan differs from that of the proposed finance minister, Caillaux, in that it makes a direct tax on wealth whereas Caillaux wants increased general taxation. Painleve is hopeful that with this scheme he can face the chamber and secure its support. Probably the chamber will take up the plan Monday.

Despite Painleve's hopes, however, it was still pointed out that his position is precarious.

REBELS GROW BOLDER IN THE DAMASCUS AREA

APPARENTLY DETERMINED TO AVENGE SELVES FOR FRENCH BOMBARDMENT

HOMS, NORTH OF DAMASCUS, IN DANGER OF REBEL CAPTURE

London, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The situation around Damascus continues serious with rebels growing bolder and apparently determined to avenge themselves for the recent French bombardment of Damascus.

The Daily Mail's Damascus correspondent reported today that the French attacked rebels near Katana, 11 miles to the southwest of the city and killed 300 of them.

Capture of Deraa, southwest of Damascus, was again reported. Homs, north of Damascus, is reported in imminent danger of falling to the insurgents.

The Roala tribes previously reported to have decided to join the guerrillas who have organized "explosion" units for blowing up railways and bridges. Damascus authorities have arrested 260 notables, many of whom protected the Christian quarters when the rebels recently entered the city.

FEDERAL TAX LAWS REVISED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC TAX LEADERS IN HOUSE REACH ACCORD

NORMAL TAXES TO BE SLASHED, EXEMPTIONS RAISED, SURTAXES CUT

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, Nov. 7.—(UP)—President Coolidge is pleased generally with tax revision steps taken by the house ways and means committee in revising the federal tax law. This word was brought from the White House today by Representative John Q. Tilson, Connecticut, republican floor leader. Tilson did not discuss the tax in detail but he told of the president's expressed pleasure over the quick agreement upon drastic reductions.

Both republican and democratic tax leaders in the house of representatives today were in enthusiastic accord on the nearly completed federal tax revision bill which the ways and means committee is drafting.

The house committee without dissent in two days has agreed to repeal the income tax publicity provision, cut surtaxes from 40 to 20 per cent maximum; slash normal taxes and raise exemptions; split estate taxes almost in half; provided that states can collect and keep 80 per cent of the federal estate tax and has retained the capital stock and corporation taxes as well as establishing other sweeping tax policies.

Chairman Green of Iowa, republican, today announced unqualified support for the bill and Representative Garner, Texas, ranking democratic member and minority leader, echoed his words.

GLEEMANS IN COURT FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The fight for freedom of Ben and Abe Gleeman, convicted of murdering Burt Stevens, alleged hijacker, on February 16, and now serving life sentences for the crime, began in district court today.

Before a crowd of spectators that jammed the room, affidavits were read charging Morrie Miller, St. Louis gunman, with the killing for which the Gleemans are paying the penalty.

Statements of eye witnesses were next presented to substantiate the Gleemans' affidavits. Much of the testimony given at the first two trials of the convicts was refuted.

The affidavits presented in court created a sensation this fall when first filed. They charged the two Gleemans were sent to prison to protect "higher ups" in the bootleg ring for which they worked prior to the murder.

Abe Ginsberg, Minneapolis attorney, faces subornation of perjury charges as result of the affidavits. Some named have fled the Twin Cities. Still others are held for perjury in the first trials.

The case was continued until next Saturday after presentation of statements.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF YOUNG BOY PLEADS NOT GUILTY

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—(UP)—William Brandt, alleged slayer of Francis Pioletti, 11 year old Italian boy, pleaded not guilty to a first degree murder charge and his trial was set for October 16 in district court today.

Brandt was arraigned after three physicians submitted reports declaring he is neither insane nor feeble minded. The reports gave the allegedly confessed murderer a mental rating of 10 years and eight months and adjudged him competent to stand trial.

The murder which police say Brandt confessed was one of the most fiendish in police records. The victim's body was found beaten and slashed in the attic of a deserted house last month.

Fined for Making Discourteous Remarks

Berlin, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Dr. William Janicke, son-in-law of the late President Ebert of Germany, and son of the former royal bootmaker, was today fined 100 marks ($25) or one-third of his foreign office monthly salary for discourteous remarks on the election of the monarchist General Von Hindenburg to the presidency.

"Pennsylvania Dutch"

Is Language Mixture

During 1683 a systematic German immigration into this country began.

In the fall of that year a party of Mennonites, the "hook-and-eye people" now living all over the country, came from the German city of Creteid and landed near Philadelphia upon land owned by William Penn, upon whose invitation they came, Conrad Bercowicz relates in the Century Magazine.

Some time later they founded Germantown, six miles above Philadelphia. Shortly afterward, in successive waves of almost equal numbers, they came one after the other and settled in all parts of Pennsylvania.

At the time of the Revolution one-third of the population of Pennsylvania was of German birth or descent. Soon mixing with the Dutch that lived there, they formed a virtually new language, more or less a compilation or corruption of the two, which is known today as Pennsylvania Dutch.

Flights of Fancy

The children were busy at play in the nursery. "Don't you wish you were a bird and could fly?" suggested Jerry. "I'd much rather be an elephant and squirt water down my nose," answered her brother.—London

Flyers' Parachutes

The parachutes used by American army aviators are made of carefully chosen silks and have a diameter of 24 feet. The total weight when packed is about 18 pounds. The shroud lines or cordage are of extremely fine silk made by an American manufacturer of fishing equipment. This quality is said not to be available any place else. The army regulation parachute is folded in a pack and worn by an aviator as part of his flying clothes. The pack forms a seat or cushion on which the pilot sits. When the aviator jumps he must be careful to clear the plane before releasing the parachute. Two or three seconds are allowed for this. Every army aviator is equipped with the regulation parachute upon his flight.

Shortly afterward, in successive waves of almost equal numbers, they came one after the other and settled in all parts of Pennsylvania. At the time of the Revolution one-third of the population of Pennsylvania was of German birth or descent. Soon mixing with the Dutch that lived there, they formed a virtually new language, more or less a compilation or corruption of the two, which is known today as Pennsylvania Dutch.

Flights of Fancy

The children were busy at play in the nursery. "Don't you wish you were a bird and could fly?" suggested Beryl. "I'd much rather be an elephant and squirt water down my nose," answered her brother.—London

Flyers' Parachutes

The parachutes used by American army aviators are made of carefully chosen silks and have a diameter of 24 feet. The total weight when packed is about 18 pounds. The shroud lines or cordage are of extremely fine silk made by an American manufacturer of fishing equipment. This quality is said not to be available any place else. The army regulation parachute is folded in a pack and worn by an aviator as part of his flying clothes. The pack forms a seat or cushion on which the pilot sits. When the aviator jumps he must be careful to clear the plane before releasing the parachute. Two or three seconds are allowed for this. Every army aviator is equipped with the regulation parachute upon his flight.

During this conference Rouletta stood quivering, her face a blank, completely indifferent to her surroundings. "Poleon made her sit down, and but for her ceaseless whispering she might have been in a trance."

Doret's indignation mounted as the situation became plain to him.

"Fine ring!" he angrily declared.

"What for you fellows leave dis seek gal sittin' up, eh? Me, I come jus' in tam for catch a loafer makin' off wit' her." Again he swore savagely.

"Dere's some feller ain't wort' killin'. Wal, I got good warm camp; I tak' her here, den I fin' dis fader."

"Sam won't be no good to you. What she needs is a doctor, and she needs him quick," the bartender averred.

"Eh bien! I fin' him, too! Mam'selle!" Poleon turned to the girl—

"You're bad seek, dat's fac. You care for stop in my tent?" The girl stared up at him blankly, uncomprehendingly; then, drawn doubtless by the genuine concern in his troubled gaze, she raised her hand and placed it in his.

She left it there, the small fingers curling about his big thumb like those of a child.

"Poor lil' bird!" The woodsman's brow puckered, a moisture gathered in his eyes. "Dis is hell, for sure. Come, den, ma petite, I fin' a nes' for you."

He raised her to her feet; then, removing his heavy woolen coat, he placed it about her frail shoulders.

When she was snugly buttoned inside of it he led her out into the dim gray dawn; she went with him obediently.

As they breasted the swirling snowflakes Doret told himself that, pending Sam Kirby's return to sanity, this sick girl needed a woman's care quite as much as a doctor's; naturally his thoughts turned to the Countess Courteau. Of all the women in White Horse, the Countess alone was qualified to assume charge of an innocent child like this, and he determined to call upon her as soon as he had summoned medical assistance.

When, without protest, Rouletta followed him into his snug living-quarters, Doret thought again of the ruffian from whom he had rescued her and again he breathed a malediction.

The more fully he became aware of the girl's utter helplessness the angrier he grew, and the more criminal appeared her father's conduct. White Horse made no pretense at morality; it was but a relay station, a breathing-point where the mad rush to the Klondike paused; there was neither law nor order here; the women who passed through were, for the most part, shameless creatures; the majority of the men were unruly, unresponsive to anything except an appeal to their animal appetites. Sympathy, consideration, chivalry had all but vanished in the heat of the great stampede. That Sam Kirby should have abandoned his daughter to such a fate was incredible, criminal. Mere intoxication did not excuse it, and Poleon vowed he would give the old man a piece of his mind at the first opportunity.

His tent was still warm; a few sticks of dry spruce caused the little stove to grow red; he helped Rouletta to lie down upon his bed, then he drew his blankets over her.

"You stay here lil' while, eh?" He rested a comforting hand upon her shoulder.

"Poleon goin' find your papa now. Bimeby you goin' feel better."

The Gold Belt Saloon had enjoyed a profitable all-night patronage; less than an hour previously Morris Best had rounded up the last of his gay song-birds and put an end to their carnival. The poker game, however, was still in progress at the big round table. Already numerous early risers were hurrying in to fortify themselves against the raw day just breaking, and among these last-named, by some evil whim of fate, chanced to be the man for whom Sam Kirby had so patiently waited. The fellow had not come seeking trouble—no one who knew the one-eyed gambler's reputation sought trouble with him—but learning that Kirby was still awake and in a dangerous mood, he had entered the Gold Belt determined to protect himself in case of eventualities.

Doret was but a few seconds behind the man, but those few seconds were fateful. As the pilot stepped into the saloon he beheld a sight that was enough to freeze him motionless. The big kerosene lamps, swung from the rafter braces above, shed over the interior a peculiar sickly radiance, yellowed now by reason of the pale morning light outside. Beneath one of the lamps a tableau was set. Sam Kirby and the man he had struck the night before were facing each other in the center of the room, and Doret heard the gambler cry:

"I've been laying for you!"

Kirby's usually impassive face was a sight; it was fearfully contorted; it was the countenance of a maniac. His words were loud and uncannily distinct, and the sound of them had brought a breathless hush over the place. At the moment of Doret's entrance the occupants of the saloon seemed petrified; they stood rooted in their tracks as if the anger in that menacing voice had halted them in mid-action. Poleon, too, turned cold, for it seemed to him that he had opened the door upon a roomful of wax figures posed in theatrical postures. Then in the flash of an eye the scene dissolved into action, swift and terrifying.

What happened was so unexpected it came with such a lack of warning, that few of the witnesses, even though they beheld every move, were able later to agree fully upon details. Whether Kirby actually fired the first shot, or whether his attempt to do so spurred his antagonist to lightning quickness, was long a matter of dispute. In a flash the room became a place of deafening echoes. Shouts of protest, yells of fright, the crash of overturning furniture, the stamp of fleeing feet mingled with the loud explosion of gunshots—pandemonium.

Watching the Birds

That birds are able to perform feats that are impossible to human beings has long been known to science, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. They have, for instance, a most marvelous sense of direction. This cannot be put down to memory, for young birds reared in England will go straight to the same African haunts to which their parents went weeks before them.

But it is as weather prophets that birds excel, according to an English naturalist. Swallows, martins and swifts, he says, will tell if the following day is to be fine. If they are flying really high, say, 500 to 1,000 feet above the ground, a whole week of sunshine may be expected. If they are only 50 feet high, the outlook is doubtful. But if they skim a few feet above the ground, rain is certain.

A tame raven invariably slept on the southwest porch of a home. Twice in two years it changed to the northwest side, and both times a terrific gale blew from the southwest. When a wood filled with singing birds is suddenly silenced a thunderstorm is usually due. It often is observed, too, that if migrating birds fly north instead of south late in fall a mild winter may be expected.

Gained Lasting Fame as Builder of Roads

The first macadam road ever constructed was officially tested and approved in Scotland more than a century ago. The inventor was John Loudon Macadam, a native of Ayr, Scotland, where he was born in 1756. Macadam went to New York in 1770, entered his uncle's counting house, and became a successful merchant.

In 1783 he returned to Scotland and purchased a handsome estate. In 1810 Macadam began his experiments in highway construction which have made his name immortal.

The great road builder was thoroughly Scotch in his methods, and as he wanted nothing flimsy, he investigated road building methods in a score of countries, traveling 30,000 miles.

His preliminary trials of "macadamizing" were so successful that in 1816 he was appointed surveyor to the Bristol Turnpike trust and remade the roads there cheaply and well. The house of commons investigated his system, and he was voted $50,000 and appointed surveyor general of metropolitan roads. He declined knighthood.—Chicago Journal.

Red Cross Urges Every American to Enroll in Mercy Legion Ranks

ON November 11, as the world pauses to observe the moment which marked the signing of the Armistice, the American Red Cross will begin calling the roll of its membership. The Roll Call is an invitation to all to join its ranks. Back of the Red Cross is a story of peacetime service to the world equalled only by its record in war. Always first in the list of its activities is its care of the service and ex-service man, of whom 96,931 were aided every month in the past year. In hospitals, at home, in the forces of the United States, and wherever else the need arose. Second in importance to this paramount duty, was the Red Cross work in 61 disasters which struck the United States during the year, and in 29 foreign disasters in the same period.

Besides these services, Red Cross

public health nurses were constantly at work all over the country. Its nutrition experts were busy in schools and homes. First Aid and Life Saving instructors were engaged in fighting deaths from accidents in daily life, and in the water; volunteers under the Red Cross symbol were performing acts of humanitarian service in many fields; members of the Junior Red Cross in increasing numbers were practicing ideals of service wherever they sprang up, and in many other ways the American Red Cross was faithfully carrying out the mandate of service placed upon it by the people through its charter from Congress.

The signing of the Armistice was the most joyous occasion in modern history; there is no better way to commemorate it than by joining the American Red Cross.

"I'll Show You the Town" Heralded as "Scream"

Lessons in love are furnished by four pretty women in Reginald Denny's latest Universal-Jewel feature, "I'll Show You the Town," scheduled to open at the Lyceum theatre on Sunday.

Fan was affectionate. Hazel was petite. Agnes was wealthy. Lucille was passionate, and Alice Dupree, the pensive college professor, played by Reginald Denny, was, it may be said without exaggeration, a wee bit too ambitious. The net result being that he learned about women from her and her and her, in a series of highly thrilling experiences which are vouched for by a press agent who is famed for his sterling honesty, as the laughingliest list of excitable trifles ever flashed on the screen so far this year.

Wildcat's Finish

When Mrs. Leon Ostrom of Liberty, Pa., saw a wildcat swimming toward the shore of the duck pond with one of her ducks in its mouth, she became a determined woman. She armed herself with a club and followed the cat until it ran under a log. By jabbing the cat with a pointed stick, she forced it to turn upon her and then slung it with a club, subsequently beating it to death.

Steel Mill for Brazil

Brazil has other things than the Amazon river and a halter hold on the world's coffee supply. It has very large deposits of iron ore and, now, at Riptao Preto she has an electrically run steel mill which is operated by motors made for the job in the United States.

Australia's Sheep Flock

Already numerous early risers were hurrying in to fortify themselves against the raw day just breaking, and among these last-named, by some evil whim of fate, chanced to be the man for whom Sam Kirby had so patiently waited. The fellow had not come seeking trouble—no one who knew the one-eyed gambler's reputation sought trouble with him—but, learning that Kirby was still awake and in a dangerous mood, he had entered the Gold Belt determined to protect himself in case of eventualities.

Doret was but a few seconds behind the man, but those few seconds were fatal. As the pilot stepped into the saloon he beheld a sight that was enough to freeze him motionless. The big kerosene lamps, swung from the rafter braces above, shed over the interior a peculiar sickly radiance, yellowed now by reason of the pale morning light outside. Beneath one of the lamps a tableau was set. Sam Kirby and the man he had struck the night before were facing each other in the center of the room, and Doret heard the gambler cry: "I've been laying for you!"

Kirby's usually impassive face was a sight; it was fearfully contorted; it was the countenance of a maniac. His words were loud and uncannily distinct, and the sound of them had brought a breathless hush over the place. At the moment of Doret's entrance the occupants of the saloon seemed petrified; they stood rooted in their tracks as if the anger in that menacing voice had halted them in mid-action. Poleon, too, turned cold, for it seemed to him that he had opened the door upon a roomful of wax figures posed in theatrical postures. Then in the flash of an eye the scene dissolved into action, swift and terrifying.

What happened was so unexpected it came with such a lack of warning, that few of the witnesses, even though they beheld every move, were able later to agree fully upon details. Whether Kirby actually fired the first shot, or whether his attempt to do so spurred his antagonist to lightning quickness, was long a matter of dispute. In a flash the room became a place of deafening echoes. Shouts of protest, yells of fright, the crash of overturning furniture, the stamp of fleeing feet mingled with the loud explosion of gunshots—pandemonium.

Foretell Weather by Watching the Birds

That birds are able to perform feats that are impossible to human beings has long been known to science, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. They have, for instance, a most marvelous sense of direction. This cannot be put down to memory, for young birds reared in England will go straight to the same African haunts to which their parents went weeks before them. But it is as weather prophets that birds excel, according to an English naturalist. Swallows, martins and swifts, he says, will tell if the following day is to be fine. If they are flying really high, say, 500 to 1,000 feet above the ground, a whole week of sunshine may be expected. If they are only 50 feet high, the outlook is doubtful. But if they skim a few feet above the ground, rain is certain.

A tame raven invariably slept on the southwest porch of a home. Twice in two years it changed to the northwest side, and both times a terrific gale blew from the southwest. When a wood filled with singing birds is suddenly silenced a thunderstorm is usually due. It often is observed, too, that if migrating birds fly north instead of south late in fall a mild winter may be expected.

Gained Lasting Fame as Builder of Roads

The first macadam road ever constructed was officially tested and approved in Scotland more than a century ago. The inventor was John Loudon Macadam, a native of Ayr, Scotland, where he was born in 1756. Macadam went to New York in 1770, entered his uncle's counting house, and became a successful merchant.

In 1783 he returned to Scotland and purchased a handsome estate. In 1810 Macadam began his experiments in highway construction which have made his name immortal.

The great road builder was thoroughly Scotch in his methods, and as he wanted nothing flimsy, he investigated road building methods in a score of countries, traveling 30,000 miles.

His preliminary trials of "macadamizing" were so successful that in 1816 he was appointed surveyor to the Bristol Turnpike trust and remade the roads there cheaply and well. The house of commons investigated his system, and he was voted $50,000 and appointed surveyor general of metropolitan roads. He declined knighthood.—Chicago Journal.

Red Cross Urges Every American to Enroll in Mercy Legion Ranks

ON November 11, as the world pauses to observe the moment which marked the signing of the Armistice, the American Red Cross will begin calling the roll of its membership. The Roll Call is an invitation to all to join its ranks. Back of the Red Cross is a story of peacetime service to the world equalled only by its record in war. Always first in the list of its activities is its care of the service and ex-service man, of whom 96,931 were aided every month in the past year. In hospitals, at home, in the forces of the United States, and wherever else the need arose. Second in importance to this paramount duty, was the Red Cross work in 61 disasters which struck the United States during the year, and in 29 foreign disasters in the same period.

Besides these services, Red Cross

public health nurses were constantly at work all over the country. Its nutrition experts were busy in schools and homes. First Aid and Life Saving instructors were engaged in fighting deaths from accidents in daily life, and in the water; volunteers under the Red Cross symbol were performing acts of humanitarian service in many fields; members of the Junior Red Cross in increasing numbers were practicing ideals of service wherever they sprang up, and in many other ways the American Red Cross was faithfully carrying out the mandate of service placed upon it by the people through its charter from Congress.

The signing of the Armistice was the most joyous occasion in modern history; there is no better way to commemorate it than by joining the American Red Cross.

"I'll Show You the Town" Heralded as "Scream"

Lessons in love are furnished by four pretty women in Reginald Denny's latest Universal-Jewel feature, "I'll Show You the Town," scheduled to open at the Lyceum theatre on Sunday.

Fan was affectionate. Hazel was petite. Agnes was wealthy. Lucille was passionate, and Alec Dupree, the pensive college professor, played by Reginald Denny, was, it may be said without exaggeration, a wee bit too ambitious. The net result being that he learned about women from her and her and her, in a series of highly thrilling experiences which are vouched for by a press agent who is famed for his sterling honesty, as the laughingest list of excitable trifles ever flashed on the screen so far this year.

Wildcat's Finish

When Mrs. Leon Ostrom of Liberty, Pa., saw a wildcat swimming toward the shore of the duck pond with one of her ducks in its mouth, she became a determined woman. She armed herself with a club and followed the cat until it ran under a log. By jabbing the cat with a pointed stick, she forced it to turn upon her and then stunned it with a club, subsequently beating it to death.

COMBATTING THE PEDDLER NUISANCE

AN authoritative editorial appearing in the November issue of the "Sample Case," official organ of the United Commercial Travelers, takes up the important topic of "Combatting the Peddler Nuisance." Charles Holman Smith says:

"In Monroe, La., the business men have got together in a business way and are combatting, successfully, the peddler nuisance, and making headway against the mail order buying.

Peddlers, visiting from house to house, are a public nuisance. No woman has the time to be bothered about her house work to be called to the door to be interviewed by a peddler. When she wishes to buy something, she will go shopping for it, and at a time that best suits her convenience. In every town, large and small, one continually hears complaint from housekeepers about the peddler nuisance. It is a passing fad, just like the old time lightning rod salesmen, the rag buyers who traded tinware for rags, and the like. It is losing out, and the houses that are depending on that way of distribution are finding this out.

Consumers are finding out that the actual cost of getting goods to them by way of the peddler and the mail order house, is actually higher than in their local stores.

To cite an illustration. A farmer asked the price of an article in a local store, and was told it was $3.20. 'I can get that same thing from a mail order house at $2.82,' the farmer replied. 'That is less than I have to pay for it, answered the dealer, 'but I will sell it to you on EXACTLY the same terms as the mail order house.'

'That's all right,' smiled the farmer. 'Send it along and charge it to my account.' 'Not on your tintype,' said the merchant. 'You can't do a credit business with a mail order house. Hand over the cash.'

Farmer pays. 'Now, Mr. Farmer, 2c for postage and 5c for money order. Add 35c for express charges, same as mail order house demands.' The farmer protested—he'd carry it home. 'No, remember you are buying on the EXACT terms of the mail order house. You can figure it up—you have paid mail order price of $3.36 for what I offered you at $3.20 and you will not have to wait a week, nor take chances on damage in shipment.'

Mail order and selling through peddlers is doomed as an economic business venture. Every purchaser must pay the cost of selling goods to him, as well as a reasonable profit above cost. The overhead cost of a local store is far less than that of a house selling by mail or through peddlers. A peddler has to make far more on his sales than the average traveling man is paid, otherwise he would not sell. The consumer pays that cost, and in order to make the expense appear less, a lower grade of merchandise is sold.

Co-operation between retailers and jobbers, co-ordination between dealers and the traveling men who sell them goods, will bring about satisfactory adjustment of selling goods at retail.

AN ERA OF PEACE

IN his Thanksgiving proclamation, President Coolidge says: "We have been brought with safety and honor through another year, and, through the generosity of nature. He has blessed us with resources whose potentiality in wealth is almost incalculable; we are at peace at home and abroad; the public health is good; we have been undisturbed by pestilence or great catastrophe; our harvests and our industries have been rich in productivity; our commerce spreads over the whole world, and labor has been well rewarded for its service."

Unquestionably, continues the St. Cloud Daily Times, "we should bow in gratitude to God for His favors," as the President reminds the nation. And not only on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 26, but every day. It is greatly to be feared that our prosperity in material things has developed a spirit of pride and self-assurance that is weakening the moral fiber of very many in this blessed land. It is not hard for people struggling incessantly for the material means of existence to practice the moral and spiritual virtues, but for those as highly favored as are Americans to renounce indulgence that undermine character constitutes a glorious triumph.

Moral and spiritual progress in keeping with our material prosperity should be possible if all observe Thanksgiving Day in the spirit of the President's recommendation throughout the years.

SUCCESSFUL IN POULTRY BUSINESS

THE DISPATCH is glad to publish the story of Mrs. S. S. Rood, of Iron Hub, who has made a great success in the poultry business. Mrs. Rood combines the rare faculty of being a poultry expert and a business woman. In one year her flock produced 50,996 eggs. Her net profit of $125 a month shows that specialized lines of farming pay.

In achieving such a success in the poultry business, Mrs. Rood handled every phase of it from brooder to marketing. Not the least interesting is her exact bookkeeping which accounts for every cent invested, expended and gained.

The story of what Mrs. Rood has done in Crow Wing county means a lot to our community. Her concrete achievements offer an inspiration to others. Drive your car out some day and visit the poultry farm.

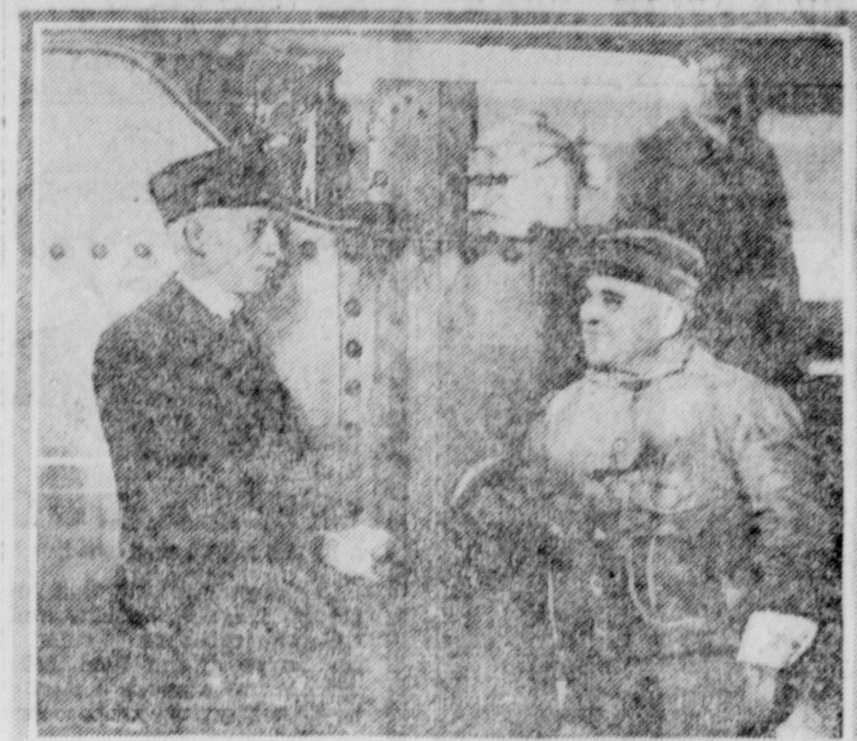

ENTON MAYO in Harper's senses love as being in one respect like food; it matters most when one hasn't any. This is the situation of many unfortunates in this world of ours. There are more people starving for love and affection than for food, and their situation is intensified and embittered by the general attitude to marriage.

THE Canadian Northwest Mounted Police boasts that it never stops until it gets its man, says the Baudette Region, and comments further that is nothing to get chesty about. Neither do some girls, and neither do some auto speeders.

It is pleasing to see Japanese newspapers urging that a world disarmament conference be held in Japan. It assists to dispel doubts in minds that Japan is purely a militaristic nation.

THE word "obey" in the marriage ceremony never did amount to much, for no husband ever had the determination to enforce it.

Engineer and Conductor of New York-Chicago Flyer Are Pensioned After 50 Years' Service

When the Pennsylvania Railroad's Broadway Limited, crack New York-Chicago flyer, made its maiden trip 21 years ago, Oliver P. Keller was at the throttle and Charles E. Eberly wielded the ticket punch. Each was a veteran then and now that they have reached 70, they have been retired on pensions. Eberly had had 50 years and 4 months of service and Keller 62 years and 6 months. This photograph was made as they were starting their last run from New York to Harrisburg, the first lap of the flyer's westbound journey. They were receiving the congratulations of railroad officials.

Outgrowing One's Friends

There is one very sad thing in old friendships, to every mind which is really moving onward. It is this: that one cannot help using his early friends as the keystone to the arch, to mark his progress. Every now and then we grow an old schoolmate over the years with a string of thought tied to him, and look—I am afraid with a kind of luxurious and sanctimonious compassion to see the rate at which the string reels off, while he lies there bobbing up and down, poor fellow! And we are dashing along with the white foam and bright sparkle at our bows; the ruffled bosom of prosperity and progress, with a sprig of diamonds stuck in it! But this is only the sentimental side of the matter; for grow we must, if we outgrow all that we love.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Nature's Laboratory

Reaching a temperature below 30 degrees Fahrenheit, the Great Salt Lake manufactures sodium sulphate, and accommodatingly casts it up on the beach. The fact that the deposit of sodium sulphate can be gathered before it goes back into solution has led to the construction of a plant for harvesting and refining the material into a commercial product. The average period of production will be two months each year. During a season of mild winter there may be none produced, and during years of cold winter the sodium sulphate may be precipitated for three months, judging by weather records of 20 years.

Prolific Poet

Lopez de Vega, celebrated Spanish poet, born in 1562, died in 1625, wrote 1,800 comedies, 300 sacred dramas and 21 volumes of poetry. In all he published about twenty-two million verses in his lifetime.

Second Youth

There comes a period of the imagination to each—a later youth—the power of beauty, the power of books of poetry.—Emerson.

A Family of Z's

Some persons have a queer, not to say a perverse, humor in names, and when they happen to be parents they often inflict on their offspring names that are a lifelong embarrassment. A writer in the Boston Herald recalls the case of a man named Zuriel Cook, who, having been cursed with an outlandish name, determined that all his children should suffer with him.

Zuriel Cook married Polly Lombard at Henderson, N. Y., early in the Nineteenth century. His large family of children were named as follows: Zuriel, Zeressa, Zerema, Zeinus, Zephronia, Zerodia, Zedina, Zegotus, Zelora, Zethaniel, Zeruth, Zelobus, Zedella and last of all Jataes.

It is fair to presume that James was a posthumous child. If Mr. Cook had lived the boy would probably have been named Zephaniah or Zerubbabel.

Tobacco Once Banned

It was recently announced that the government of Tibet had placed a ban on the introduction of tobacco into that country. But regulation and prohibition of the use of the narcotic weed by the law of the land is by no means new, says the Dearborn Independent.

The following is taken from the court book of Methold, Norfolk, England, dated October 4, 1695. "We agree that any person that is taken smoking tobacco in the street shall forfeit one shilling every time so taken and it shall be lawful for the petty constables to distrain for the same to be put to the uses of the town."

A few pages farther there is the record of the first arrest under the tobacco prohibition law. "We present Nicholas Barber for smoking in the street and do amerce him one shilling."

When the Pennsylvania Railroad's Broadway Limited, crack New York-Chicago flyer, made its maiden trip 21 years ago, Oliver P. Keller was at the throttle and Charles E. Eberly wielded the ticket punch. Each was a veteran then and now that they have reached 70, they have been retired on pensions. Eberly had had 50 years and 4 months of service and Keller 62 years and 6 months. This photograph was made as they were starting their last run from New York to Harrisburg, the first lap of the flyer's westbound journey. They were receiving the congratulations of railroad officials.

Outgrowing One's Friends

There is one very sad thing in old friendships, to every mind which is really moving onward. It is this: that one cannot help using his early friends as the seaman uses the log to mark his progress. Every now and then we throw an old schoolmate over the stern with a string of thought tied to him, and look—I am afraid with a kind of luxurious and sanctimonious compassion to see the rate at which the string reels off, while he lies there bobbing up and down, poor fellow! And we are dashing along with the white foam and bright sparkle at our bows; the ruffled bosom of prosperity and progress, with a sprig of diamonds stuck in it! But this is only the sentimental side of the matter; for grow we must, if we outgrow all that we love.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Nature's Laboratory

Reaching a temperature below 30 degrees Fahrenheit, the Great Salt Lake manufactures sodium sulphate, and accommodatingly exists it up on the beach. The fact that the deposit of sodium sulphate can be gathered before it goes back into solution has led to the construction of a plant for harvesting and refining the material into a commercial product. The average period of production will be two months each year. During a season of mild winter there may be none produced, and during years of cold winter the sodium sulphate may be precipitated for three months, judging by weather records of 20 years.

Prolific Poet

Lopez de Vega, celebrated Spanish poet, born in 1592, died in 1625, wrote 1,800 comedies, 400 sacred dramas and 21 volumes of poetry. In all he published about twenty-two million verses in his lifetime.

Second Youth

There comes a period of the imagination to each—a later youth—the age of beauty, the power of books of poetry.—Emerson.

A Family of Z's

Some persons have a queer, not to say a perverse, humor in names, and when they happen to be parents they often inflict on their offspring names that are a lifelong embarrassment. A writer in the Boston Herald recalls the case of a man named Zuriel Cook, who, having been cursed with an outlandish name, determined that all his children should suffer with him.

Zuriel Cook married Polly Lombard at Henderson, N. Y., early in the Nineteenth century. His large family of children were named as follows: Zuriel, Zeressa, Zerema, Zeinus, Zephronia, Zerodia, Zedina, Zegotus, Zelora, Zethaniel, Zeruth, Zelobus, Zedella and last of all Zataes.

It is fair to presume that James was a posthumous child. If Mr. Cook had lived the boy would probably have been named Zephaniah or Zerubbabel.

Tobacco Once Banned

It was recently announced that the government of Tibet had placed a ban on the introduction of tobacco into that country. But regulation and prohibition of the use of the narcotic weed by the law of the land is by no means new, says the Dearborn Independent.

The following is taken from the court book of Methold, Norfolk, England, dated October 4, 1695. "We agree that any person that is taken smoking tobacco in the street shall forfeit one shilling every time so taken and it shall be lawful for the petty constables to distrain for the same to be put to the uses of the town."

A few pages farther there is the record of the first arrest under the tobacco prohibition law. "We present Nicholas Barber for smoking in the street and do amerce him one shilling."

DR. ROY SMITH'S SATURDAY NIGHT TALKS

By the REV. ROY L. SMITH, D. D.
Pastor Simpson M. E. Church, Minneapolis

WHAT CENTURY DO YOU LIVE IN?

It is impossible for a person to be in two places at the same time, but it is possible to live in two centuries, or even more, at the same time.
It is no infrequent experience to find a farm equipped with the latest and most improvements in machinery for the fields and the most primitive and inadequate devices still in use in the house. The barn will be organized according to 1925 and the house according to 1850.
Occasionally successful men refuse to assist their sons in getting a college education, declaring that they have succeeded without college and that therefore the son can. But those fathers would not consider starting the sons out to compete with gas tractors equipped only with ox teams. The intellectual equipment must be kept abreast of the mechanical equipment of business.
It is not at all unusual for a business man to be alert to every progressive movement within the line of his business and still be living in the moral or social world of a hundred years ago when the motto of every business was "let the buyer beware."
Political leaders who are versed in every modern concept of military science sometimes are in the midst of the diplomacy of the eighteenth century.
The difficulty with many who assert that science and religion are in disagreement make their mistake because they are contrasting the science of today with the religion of day before yesterday.
Expertness in one field does not entitle one to speak with authority in another. The modern business man may be an ancient religionist and the ancient scientist may be remarkably modern in his religious faith.
It will pay any man, before speaking with finality upon subjects in which he is not expert, to discover what century he is living in.

Niagara Falls
The water that flows over Niagara has flowed from the four great lakes and the hundreds of rivers that flow into them, more than one-half of the fresh water of the world, according to one authority. The fact that evaporation and precipitation in the form of rain and snow are continually going on in the enormous areas of the Great Lakes region renders it unlikely that the Great Lakes will ever be drained in this manner.

How to Paint Wickers

Wicker furniture should be washed in strong soda water (one tablespoonful of washing soda to a quart of water). Allow to dry, then paint any color with a standard enamel paint, being sure it does not settle in the openings of the wicker, as it will dry too thick if not brushed out.

Find "Youth Fountain"

Johns Hopkins experts have found a "fountain of youth," but only for tadpoles. A gland in the brain is cut away when the egg tadpole is

Niagara Falls

The water that flows over Niagara has flowed from the four great lakes and the hundreds of rivers that flow into them, more than one-half of the fresh water of the world, according to one authority. The fact that evaporation and precipitation in the form of rain and snow are continually going on in the enormous areas of the Great Lakes region renders it unlikely that the Great lakes will ever be drained in this manner.

How to Paint Wickers

Wicker furniture should be washed in strong soda water (one tablespoonful of washing soda to a quart of water). Allow to dry, then paint any color with a standard enamel paint, being sure it does not settle in the openings of the wicker, as it will dry too thick if not brushed out.

Find "Youth Fountain"

Johns Hopkins experts have found a "fountain of youth," but only for tadpoles. A gland in the brain is cut away when the egg tadpole is hatching and this prevents it from aging in any way.

JOE BULLET LESLIE BUSH IS HEARD FROM

BROWN'S PITCHER KNEW NOTHING OF BRAINERD GAME

KNEW BROWNS WERE BARN-STORMING BUT NO ONE TOLD HIM OF GOING TO BRAINERD

ARM WAS BOTHERING HIM, MAKING IT UNWISE TO PITCH AFTER SEASON WAS OVER

The new Brainerd Athletic park, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce committee of citizens headed by Supt. J. P. Anderson of the Northern Pacific railway shops, recently made its report of the success attained in opening the park with the Browns-Brainerd game, that the grandstand was successfully financed and that only the roof now remains to be added.

The committee, dealing with the Browns barnstorming manager was given assurance by this manager that Joe Bullet Leslie Bush would be in the line-up and the announcement was so made by Manager Whiting of the Brainerd team which played the Browns. The day was made a regular Joe Bush homecoming in addition to a civic affair, for the success of the game meant also the completion of the grandstand and the Athletic park placed in such shape as to be a real credit and asset to the city. In fact every activity in Brainerd assisted to make it a civic holiday.

Thereafter shortly before the game came rumors of all kinds, that Bush was ill, that Bush was operated on, that Bush could not come, so the citizens' committee was at its wits' end. Bush, hunting at the time in the Canadian wilds, has now come home and from his Oak Lane home at Philadelphia, writes the Dispatch his story and shows he knew nothing of the booking agent of the barnstorming Browns, nor, as he states, did any of the Browns mention to him they were going to Brainerd.

Here is Joe Bullet Bush's letter in full:

I have received letters from members of my family and from friends in Brainerd, also clippings from your paper in regard to the Browns' barnstorming trip to Brainerd last month.

I know you will be kind enough to publish this letter for I wish to exonerate myself from such a nasty, underhanded affair, created by some unscrupulous person.

You would have heard from me before this but I knew nothing of the talk, until arriving home today from my hunting trip in Canada. Furthermore, I know nothing of this man Stickbauer who presumably was an agent for the barnstormers and I haven't as yet had time to get in touch with any of the players who took part in the games. Therefore, I am unable at this time to state just who was responsible for such a trick.

It goes without saying that this affair will be ferreted out to everyone's satisfaction. There is no reason why I should be humiliated, along with my family simply because some faker or fakers saw fit to use my name for their own financial gain.

I was aware of the fact that some of the boys were going on a barnstorming trip but I had no idea they were going anywhere near Brainerd, not one of them mentioned it to me.

As far as my going on this trip, everyone knew that my arm was bothering me at that time, therefore making it very unwise to continue pitching after the season was over.

I sincerely hope that my friends in and around Brainerd who have always been so wonderful and loyal to me, will not believe me to be so ungrateful as to double-cross them in such a manner. I feel very badly about this whole nasty business and as soon as I find who the guilty one is I shall lay the case before Judge Landis. I wish to assure my friends that I have the deepest respect for their loyalty and that I was in no way connected with this affair.

With best wishes to you, I remain,
Sincerely yours,

EVERSEN IS CHAMPION CORN HUSKER OF STATE

Fairmont, Minn., Nov. 7.—(UP)—Dempey, Ruth, Grange, Johnson—Eversen.

The northwest added that last name to championship lists today with announcement of the victory of F. R. Eversen, 31, over a field of 10 corn-huskers chosen from 600.

When the dust and cornhusks settled over the 80 acre field near here on which the contest was held, 22 bushels of corn were found on Eversen's pile.

Experts said the champion's technique had been one of the marvels of the age. He won easily over L. S. M. Selvig, Winnebago, Minn., and George Prust, Ceylon, Minn., who were second and third.

Henry Haas, vaunted South Dakota entry, was not in the running. Eversen went home to Fergus Falls, Minn., to train for the midwest contest at Burgess, Ill., November 19. His admirers say he will show the middle west what Grange showed the east.

"Red" Grange, Whose Sensational Quarterback Play for Illinois Defeated Pennsylvania Eleven

"Red" Grange literally beat Pennsylvania single-handedly by scoring three of Illinois' four touchdowns and by his quickness and agility he prevented a Pennsylvania touchdown by dropping on the ball for a safety, which thus held the Quakers to their two lone points. Grange is shown before the game at Philadelphia with mascot, Lou Young, Jr.

ILLINOIS IN TURMOIL TODAY, RED GRANGE PLAYS

APPEARS IN LAST CONFERENCE GAME IN MEMORIAL STADIUM AT URBANA

ILLINOIS TEAM ENGAGES COACH A. A. STAGG'S CHICAGO MAROONS

By EDWARD C. DERR
United Press Staff Correspondent

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 7.—The state of Illinois was thrown into turmoil today by a red haired youngster, who carries ice to back doors in the summer months and footballs to touchdowns in the autumn.

Red Grange, this afternoon, plays his last conference game in the Memorial stadium, when his Illinois team engages Coach A. A. Stagg's Chicago Maroons.

Next weekend Illinois meets Wabash, a nonconference school, and then Red ends his collegiate career against Ohio State at Columbus, November 21.

And so the state turned out in vast numbers today for a parting glimpse of the red haired marvel in Big Ten competition. A network of paved roads leading to Champaign and Urbana was clogged with automobile traffic and railroad schedules were knocked out because of special trains routed from all corners of the state. Extra seats have been built and 69,000 fans will see the game.

Rain fell here all night and converted the gridiron into a puddle of mud and water. Red has not had the privilege of showing his wares on a dry field this year, but he has become so accustomed to heavy running, as demonstrated by his marvelous performance against Pennsylvania last week, that the chances are about even he will get away this afternoon.

The two teams are almost even as to weight. Betting odds were 8 to 5 in favor of Illinois, despite the fact Chicago has not lost to a conference team in two years, while Illinois dropped its first two Big Ten games this season. The odds were based chiefly on the fact Chicago lost to Pennsylvania and Illinois won.

The probable lineup:
Chicago Position Illinois
Lempe LE Kassel
Henderson (C) LT Marriner
Hibben LG Cooledge
Baker C Reitsch
Pokrass RG Mitterwallner
Hobschled RT Brown
Yeisley RE D'Ambrose
Drain QB Grange (C)

IMPORTANT FOOTBALL GAMES TODAY

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 7.—With the start of the Big Three series, the 1925 football season turns into the final quarter today with a number of interesting and important games.

The Big Three hasn't been much to talk about this season, but the fact remains that the battles between Yale, Harvard and Princeton still have their tradition behind them and they still command national interest.

Princeton and Harvard, neither of which will be entitled to any national ranking at the close of the season, open the series at Princeton.

It has been a dismal year for Harvard, but the militant old grads will shout less loud for the scalps and hides of the coaches if the Harvard team is able to defeat Princeton or Yale.

Princeton also has had more successful seasons than the one just closing, but the team has been brought along slowly and profited by some good experience.

It looks very much like a Princeton victory. Notre Dame returns for its second visit to the East with a game against Penn State at State College.

The defeat suffered on the earlier trip at the hands of the Army did a lot of good to the green Notre Dame youngsters, as they proved when they came back and walloped Minnesota.

Penn State isn't up to the standard of past years and Notre Dame has been coming along so well that Knute Rockne's kids ought to win. Pennsylvania, after playing Brown, Yale, Chicago and Illinois in a row, one of the hardest jobs ever tackled by any team, gets a slight rest in a game with Haverford. Lou Young, however, may keep his Penn regulars in the game to keep them on edge for the two remaining games with Pittsburgh and Cornell.

One of the most important games in the East—one with a bearing on the final ranking, will be played at Hanover between Dartmouth and Cornell.

The game will mean much to the winner. Dartmouth, with one of the finest teams of the year, is out for the eastern championship and a victory over Cornell will be one more impressive name on the list of victims. Cornell cannot hope to make any claims on her schedule but it will mean something if Cornell can say—"We beat Dartmouth! What else do you want?"

Illinois and Chicago will have the place of honor on the Western conference bill. Indiana plays Ohio State, Michigan meets Northwestern and Iowa opposes Wisconsin.

The two service academies, which are pointing to their annual battle, ought not have much trouble in two comparatively easy games.

Army, with one of the most powerful teams in the East, engages Davis-Elkens in an intersectional battle at West Point and the Navy entertains Western Maryland at Annapolis.

In another inter-sectional game, Syracuse meets Ohio Wesleyan, one of the big teams of the Ohio conference, at Syracuse.

Pittsburgh and Washington and Jefferson is an important Pennsylvania game. There is nothing vital at stake, but there is a lot of traditional rivalry between the two colleges.

Yale, getting ready for the Princeton game next week, has a breather with Maryland, but too much cannot be made out of any breaching games. It might be better for Yale, perhaps, if a harder game could have been arranged, as the Yale squad needs plenty of work in competition.

Alabama and Kentucky meet in one of the important games of the South and Georgia Tech plays Vanderbilt in another interesting game, while Georgia and Auburn get together at Columbus.

In the Missouri Valley conference, Kansas plays Oklahoma; Missouri meets Washington; and Nebraska opposes Drake.

Stanford and Washington top the bill on the Pacific Coast. California plays Washington State and Southern California opposes Santa Clara.

DOPESTERS FAVOR GOPHER ELEVEN

Minneapolis, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Barring a sudden change in temperature a frost coated gridiron will make hard wading for Minnesota and Butler warriors scheduled for a non-conference game at Memorial stadium. Dopesters are favoring the Gophers.

Probable lineup:
Minnesota Position Butler
Tuttle LE Strole
Hyde LT Keach
Hanson LG Sothern
MacKinnon C Reichel
Walsh RG Thauing
Elli RT Cecil
Wheeler RE Knold
Almquist QB Nipper
Murrel LHB Nortnam
O'Brien RHB Canfield
Joesting FB Parr

Memorial Stadium, Minneapolis, Nov. 7.—Under Arctic conditions and with a very meager crowd in attendance Minnesota and Butler met at Memorial stadium this afternoon. The frigid weather curtailed the attendance and an expected crowd of 20,000 was held to about one-half that number.

The Butler team appeared fully as heavy if not heavier than the Gophers, as the teams took the field.

First Quarter
After winning the toss and choosing to defend the west goal, Minnesota received the kick off and marched down the field for a touchdown without losing the ball. Almquist went over for the score and kicked goal for the extra point. Minnesota again received. Punters were exchanged on even terms. Murrell made a 35 yard gain around end as the quarter time was called.

Second Quarter
Almquist went over for his second touchdown on the fourth play after the game was resumed. Butler received and made two first downs in as many plays on forward passes. Minnesota punted after stopping Butler's forward pass attack and recovered a fumble on Butler's 30 yard line. A forward pass landed the ball on Butler's 5 yard line. Joesting went over on the fourth down. Nydall kicked goal. Score: Minnesota 20, Butler 0.

MICHIGAN CLASHES WITH NORTHWESTERN

Chicago, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The "heirs apparent" to the Big Ten championship, Michigan's Wolverines, clashed with Northwestern here today and 40,000 fans braved the chill winds and rain to see the game.

Unless a team of mediocre caliber can rise to almost undreamed of heights, Michigan should come through with another Big Ten victory to its credit. The Wolverines were aroused to fighting pitch by a statement attributed to Coach Bob Zuppke of Illinois that he did not try to beat Michigan but saved his strength for Pennsylvania. Michigan beat Zuppke's Illinois eleven, 3 to 0.

Moon Baker, most versatile of Northwestern's backs, may see action in only a portion of today's game. He is still wobbly on the ankle that was sprained three weeks ago.

The probable lineup:
Michigan Position Northwestern
Oosterbaan LE Bovick
Babcock LT Bruce
Gabel LG Sieberman
Brown (c) C Lowry
Lovett RG A. Schuler
Yawkins RT Johnson
Flora RE Smith
Friedman QB Christman
Gilbert LHB Shoemaker
Hernstein RHB White
Molenda FB Lewis

MARQUETTE TACKLES KANSAS AT MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 7.—(UP)—For the first time in the history of Marquette university a Missouri Valley conference team appears on its gridiron here today.

With a near gale howling out of the north and the sky overcast and threatening snow, the Marquette team takes the field this afternoon against the strong Kansas Aggies eleven in the annual homecoming struggle.

Marquette is a slight favorite.

BROWN AND BOSTON UNIVERSITIES CLASH

Providence, R. I., Nov. 7.—(UP)—Brown and Boston universities are set to put into practice a new idea in football when they meet at new Brown field today.

Instead of using a coach and having specified time periods the game will be conducted on a 40 play per quarter basis. In order to assist spectators and players numbers 15 inches square will be posted on the scoreboard to show the remaining number of plays in each period. These numbers as the quarter progresses will start at 40 and go down.

ILLINOIS IN TURMOIL TODAY, RED GRANGE PLAYS

APPEARS IN LAST CONFERENCE GAME IN MEMORIAL STADIUM AT URBANA

ILLINOIS TEAM ENGAGES COACH A. A. STAGG'S CHICAGO MAROONS

By EDWARD C. DERR
United Press Staff Correspondent

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 7.—The state of Illinois was thrown into turmoil today by a red haired youngster, who carries ice to back doors in the summer months and footballs to touchdowns in the autumn.

Red Grange, this afternoon, plays his last conference game in the Memorial stadium, when his Illinois team engages Coach A. A. Stagg's Chicago Maroons.

Next weekend Illinois meets Wabash, a nonconference school, and then Red ends his collegiate career against Ohio State at Columbus, November 21.

And so the state turned out in vast numbers today for a parting glimpse of the red haired marvel in Big Ten competition. A network of paved roads leading to Champaign and Urbana was clogged with automobile traffic and railroad schedules were knocked out because of special trains routed from all corners of the state. Extra seats have been built and 69,000 fans will see the game.

Rain fell here all night and converted the gridiron into a puddle of mud and water. Red has not had the privilege of showing his wares on a dry field this year, but he has become so accustomed to heavy running, as demonstrated by his marvelous performance against Pennsylvania last week, that the chances are about even he will get away this afternoon.

The two teams are almost even as to weight. Betting odds were 8 to 5 in favor of Illinois, despite the fact Chicago has not lost to a conference team in two years, while Illinois dropped its first two Big Ten games this season. The odds were based chiefly on the fact Chicago lost to Pennsylvania and Illinois won.

The probable lineup:
Chicago Position Illinois
Lempe LE Kassel
Henderson (C) LT Marriner
Hibben LG Cooledge
Baker C Reitsch
Pokrass RG Mitterwaller
Hobschied RT Brown
Yeisley RE D'Ambrose
Drain QB Grange (C)

IMPORTANT FOOTBALL GAMES TODAY

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 7.—With the start of the Big Three series, the 1925 football season turns into the final quarter today with a number of interesting and important games.

The Big Three hasn't been much to talk about this season, but the fact remains that the battles between Yale, Harvard and Princeton still have their tradition behind them and they still command national interest.

Princeton and Harvard, neither of which will be entitled to any national ranking at the close of the season, open the series at Princeton. It has been a dismal year for Harvard, but the militant old grads will shout less loud for the scalps and hides of the coaches if the Harvard team is able to defeat Princeton or Yale.

Princeton also has had more successful seasons than the one just closing, but the team has been brought along slowly and profited by some good experience.

It looks very much like a Princeton victory.

Notre Dame returns for its second visit to the East with a game against Penn State at State College.

The defeat suffered on the earlier trip at the hands of the Army did a lot of good to the green Notre Dame youngsters, as they proved when they came back and walked off with the victory.

Penn State isn't up to the standard of past years and Notre Dame has been coming along so well that Knute Rockne's kids ought to win. Pennsylvania, after playing Brown, Yale, Chicago and Illinois in a row, one of the hardest jobs ever tackled by any team, gets a slight rest in a game with Haverford. Lou Young, however, may keep his Penn regulars in the game to keep them on edge for the two remaining games with Pittsburgh and Cornell.

One of the most important games in the East—one with a bearing on the final ranking, will be played at Hanover between Dartmouth and Cornell.

The game will mean much to the winner. Dartmouth, with one of the finest teams of the year, is out for the eastern championship and a victory over Cornell will be one more impressive name on the list of victims. Cornell cannot hope to make any claims on her schedule but it will mean something if Cornell can say—"We beat Dartmouth! What else do you want?"

Illinois and Chicago will have the place of honor on the Western conference bill. Indiana plays Ohio State, Michigan meets Northwestern and Iowa opposes Wisconsin.

The two service academies, which are pointing to their annual battle, ought not have much trouble in two comparatively easy games.

Army, with one of the most powerful teams in the East, engages Davis-Elkins in an inter-sectional battle at West Point and the Navy entertains Western Maryland at Annapolis.

In another inter-sectional game, Syracuse meets Ohio Wesleyan, one of the big teams of the Ohio conference, at Syracuse.

Pittsburgh and Washington and Jefferson is an important Pennsylvania game. There is nothing vital at stake, but there is a lot of traditional rivalry between the two colleges.

Yale, getting ready for the Princeton game next week, has a breather with Maryland, but too much cannot be made out of any breathing games. It might be better for Yale, perhaps, if a harder game could have been arranged, as the Yale squad needs plenty of work in competition.

Alabama and Kentucky meet in one of the important games of the South and Georgia Tech plays Vanderbilt in another interesting game, while Georgia and Auburn get together at Columbus.

In the Missouri Valley conference, Kansas plays Oklahoma; Missouri meets Washington; and Nebraska opposes Drake.

Stanford and Washington top the bill on the Pacific Coast. California plays Washington State and Southern California opposes Santa Clara.

DOPESTERS FAVOR GOPHER ELEVEN

Minneapolis, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Barring a sudden change in temperature a frost coated gridiron will make hard wading for Minnesota and Butler warriors scheduled for a non-conference game at Memorial stadium. Dopesters are favoring the Gophers.

Probable lineup:
Minnesota Position Butler
Tuttle LE Strole
Hyde LT Keach
Hanson LG Sothern
MacKinnon C Reichel
Walsh RG Thaug
Elli RT Cecil
Wheeler RE Knold
Almquist QB Nipper
Murrel LHB Nortman
O'Brien RHB Canfield
Joesting FB Parr

Memorial Stadium, Minneapolis, Nov. 7.—Under Arctic conditions and with a very meager crowd in attendance Minnesota and Butler met at Memorial stadium this afternoon. The frigid weather curtailed the attendance and an expected crowd of 20,000 was held to about one-half that number.

The Butler team appeared fully as heavy if not heavier than the Gophers, as the teams took the field.

First Quarter
After winning the toss and choosing to defend the west goal, Minnesota received the kick off and marched down the field for a touchdown without losing the ball. Almquist went over for the score and kicked goal for the extra point. Minnesota again received. Punt were exchanged on even terms. Murrell made a 35 yard gain around end as the quarter time was called.

Second Quarter
Almquist went over for his second touchdown on the fourth play after the game was resumed. Butler received and made two first downs in as many plays on forward passes. Minnesota punted after stopping Butler's forward pass attack and recovered a fumble on Butler's 30 yard line. A forward pass landed the ball on Butler's 5 yard line. Joesting went over on the fourth down. Nydall kicked goal. Score: Minnesota 20, Butler 0.

MICHIGAN CLASHES WITH NORTHWESTERN

Chicago, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The "heirs apparent" to the Big Ten championship, Michigan's Wolverines, clashed with Northwestern here today and 49,000 fans braved the chill winds and rain to see the game.

Unless a team of mediocre caliber can rise to almost undreamed of heights, Michigan should come through with another Big Ten victory to its credit. The Wolverines were aroused to fighting pitch by a statement attributed to Coach Bob Zuppke of Illinois that he did not try to beat Michigan but saved his strength for Pennsylvania. Michigan beat Zuppke's Illinois eleven, 3 to 0.

Moore Baker, most versatile of Northwestern's backs, may see action in only a portion of today's game. He is still wobbly on the ankle that was sprained three weeks ago.

The probable lineup:
Michigan Position Northwestern
Oosterbaan LE Bovick
Babcock LT Bruce
Gabel LG Siebermann
Brown (c) C Lowry
Lovett RG A. Schuler
Yawkins RT Johnson
Flora RE Smith
Friedman QB Christman
Gilbert LHB Shoemaker
Hernstein RHB White
Molenda FB Lewis

MARQUETTE TACKLES KANSAS AT MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 7.—(UP)—For the first time in the history of Marquette university a Missouri Valley conference team appears on its gridiron here today.

With a rear gale howling out of the north and the sky overcast and threatening snow, the Marquette team takes the field this afternoon against the strong Kansas Aggies eleven in the annual homecoming struggle.

Marquette is a slight favorite.

BROWN AND BOSTON UNIVERSITIES CLASH

Providence, R. I., Nov. 7.—(UP)—Brown and Boston universities are set to put into practice a new idea in football when they meet at new Brown field today.

Instead of using a coach and having specified time periods the game will be conducted on a 40 play per quarter basis. In order to assist spectators and players numbers 15 inches square will be posted on the scoreboard to show the remaining number of plays in each period. These numbers as the quarter progresses will start at 40 and go down.

30 RADIO FANS ORGANIZE CLUB

One of Principal Purposes is to Eliminate Local Interference

C. W. HOFFMAN CHAIRMAN

M. E. Hitch Named Temporary Chairman, Trouble Shooting Committee Named

About 30 radio fans of the city met on Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of organizing a Brainerd radio club. One of the principal purposes of the organization is to eliminate much of the local interference than has been causing a great deal of trouble this fall, and which many believe is caused by leakage on nearby electrical power lines.

C. W. Hoffman was selected temporary chairman at Friday evening's meeting, and M. E. Hitch was chosen temporary secretary. Several committees were authorized, including the trouble shooting committee, educational, entertainment and membership committees.

The temporary organization will work out plans and make the necessary arrangements for completing the permanent club, and a second meeting has been called for next Thursday evening, November 12th, to be held at the Chamber of Commerce, at which time permanent officers will be elected and such other business transacted to complete the organization. A suitable name will also be selected at the next meeting.

All radio enthusiasts, whether they own receiving sets or not, are invited and urged to attend next Thursday's meeting, and to interest themselves in the new organization. It is believed that such a club can and will do much to further the interests of radio in this locality, and all who attended Friday evening's meeting are very enthusiastic about the prospects which the club promises.

Similar organizations in other cities are proving exceptionally successful, it is said, and are bringing about many improvements in radio reception in their localities. The new Brainerd club will plan a really worthwhile program for the coming radio season, and asks that all local fans give the work their hearty co-operation.

LECTURES WELL ATTENDED

SPECIAL ELECTION TO NAME SUCCESSOR TO LATE SEN. LADD

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 7.—(UP)—A special election to name a successor to the late Senator Edwin F. Ladd was called today by Governor A. G. Sorlie, for June 30, 1926, the date of the regular primary election.

Reports were circulated this fall that the governor would not call a special election but allow Senator Ladd's seat to remain unoccupied until expiration of the term. The announcement today terminates speculation and argument relative to proper procedure for filling the vacancy. At the same time, it leaves North Dakota with but one representative in the senate at this winter's session.

TRUNK ROADS FACE FREEZE-UP

A. W. Moulster, State Highway Maintenance Engineer, Says Roads Are Excellent

MORE SNOW FENCING BUILT

The state highway department is rapidly closing up its season's work and announces that practically all trunk highways are in excellent condition to go into the winter freeze-up, announces A. W. Moulster, state highway maintenance engineer in charge of the Brainerd district. Mr. Moulster says that the highway department will be much better able to handle the danger of road blockages this year than last. Last year the department had only 4 1/2 miles of snow fence. This year that amount has been increased by the addition of another four miles of fence. These fences are used only on stretches of road that are so located as to be in danger of blockading by drifting snow.

The highway department has made several improvements in the Brainerd district this year. One of the most important is the chemical treatment given the first eight miles of Trunk Highway No. 19, the Gull Lake road, which has kept it in excellent condition all season. Another is the graveling of this road from Pequot south to within eight miles of Brainerd. This portion had never been surfaced and needed the improvement badly. The work was completed about ten days ago and by next spring should be packed down and in fine shape.

A contract was let this week for the graveling of that portion of Trunk Highway No. 2 between Motley and Staples. This work is to be started at once and will be completed, it is believed, this fall. The rains this week, followed immediately by freezing weather, made many of the roads quite rutty and rough, said Mr. Moulster, but with a few thaws and some maintenance work, they will be back in fine shape again. The road that suffered most from this cause was the detour between Brainerd and Belle Prairie on Trunk Highway No. 27.

LIFE AFTER DEATH

Unusual Theme Developed in Play "Outward Bound" at New Park Theatre

"Outward Bound" is the play presented by the Auditorium Stock Co., at the New Park Theatre.

This is an unusual comedy drama of life after death, written by Sutton Vane, an English author and actor. All of the characters are supposed to be dead, and are on an ocean liner, outward bound, with no crew and no engines. The interesting feature is that the passengers on this boat do not realize that they have passed out of life.

This is considered a real classic by noted critics and is said to be one of the sensational productions in ten years, and has caused a great deal of comment in dramatic circles. Very few really new plots are offered to producers, but "Outward Bound" is new, and is creating a big sensation wherever it has been presented.

Drama League

The Drama League will meet Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carl Zapffe, 17 Bluff Avenue North. Mrs. D. E. Whitney will read "Minich" by Edna Ferber.

The deceased was born December 7th, 1860, and has been a resident of Crow Wing county for many years. Funeral arrangements have not as yet been completed, other than the fact that the body will be taken to Hutchinson for burial, probably the first of the week.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the Seventh Day Adventist church on South Seventh street, and interment will be made in the Crow Wing cemetery.

FIRE DEPARTMENT DANCE PLEASING

Very Successful, Both From a Social And Financial Viewpoint

"ROCKY MT. ENTERTAINERS"

Denver, Colorado, KOA Radio Broadcasting Orchestra, Furnishes Music

The dance given by the Brainerd Fire Department on Friday evening was very well attended, and is reported as being highly successful, both from a social and financial viewpoint.

"The Rocky Mountain Entertainers," famous because of being featured by KOA radio broadcasting station, Denver, Colorado, furnished the music for the firemen's dance, and received many high compliments on their playing. This is the first appearance of the entertainers in this section, but wherever they have played they have been urged to return for a second and even a third engagement. The orchestra is composed of six pieces, three of the members doubling on other instruments.

Fire Company No. 1, of the local fire department will give its annual ball Thanksgiving, plans for which are already well under way. This is always a big event in the autumn social season, and will be awaited with a keen interest.

The Brainerd Fire Department is making arrangements for another big dance to be staged on January 15th, and promises the public a mighty pleasant time, with good music and the best of order maintained.

SPECIAL ELECTION TO NAME SUCCESSOR TO LATE SEN. LADD

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 7.—(UP)—A special election to name a successor to the late Senator Edwin F. Ladd was called today by Governor A. G. Sorlie, for June 30, 1926, the date of the regular primary election. Reports were circulated this fall that the governor would not call a special election but allow Senator Ladd's seat to remain unoccupied until expiration of the term. The announcement today terminates speculation and argument relative to proper procedure for filling the vacancy. At the same time, it leaves North Dakota with but one representative in the senate at this winter's session.

TRUNK ROADS FACE FREEZE-UP

A. W. Moulster, State Highway Maintenance Engineer, Says Roads Are Excellent

MORE SNOW FENCING BUILT

The state highway department is rapidly closing up its season's work and announces that practically all trunk highways are in excellent condition to go into the winter freeze-up, announces A. W. Moulster, state highway maintenance engineer in charge of the Brainerd district.

Mr. Moulster says that the highway department will be much better able to handle the danger of road blockages this year than last. Last year the department had only 4 1/2 miles of snow fence. This year that amount has been increased by the addition of another four miles of fence. These fences are used only on stretches of road that are so located as to be in danger of blocking by drifting snow.

The highway department has made several improvements in the Brainerd district this year. One of the most important is the chemical treatment given the first eight miles of Trunk Highway No. 19, the Gull Lake road, which has kept it in excellent condition all season. Another is the graveling of the highway from Pequot south to within eight miles of Brainerd. This portion had never been surfaced and needed the improvement badly. The work was completed about ten days ago and by next spring should be packed down and in fine shape.

A contract was let this week for the graveling of that portion of Trunk Highway No. 2 between Motley and Staples. This work is to be started at once and will be completed, it is believed, this fall.

The rains this week, followed immediately by freezing weather, made many of the roads quite rutty and rough, said Mr. Moulster, but with a few thaws and some maintenance work, they will be back in fine shape again. The road that suffered most from this cause was the detour between Brainerd and Belle Prairie on Trunk Highway No. 27.

LIFE AFTER DEATH

Unusual Theme Developed in Play "Outward Bound" at New Park Theatre

"Outward Bound" is the play presented last evening by the Augler Theatre Co., at the New Park Theatre.

This is an unusual comedy drama of life after death, written by Sutton Vane, an English author and actor. All of the characters are supposed to be dead, and are on an ocean liner, outward bound, with no crew and no engines. The interesting feature is that the passengers on this boat do not realize that they have passed out of life.

This is considered a real classic by noted critics and is said to be one of the sensational productions in ten years, and has caused a great deal of comment in dramatic circles. Very few really new plots are offered to producers, but "Outward Bound" is new, and is creating a big sensation wherever it has been presented.

Drama League

The Drama League will meet Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carl Zapfe, 17 Bluff Avenue North. Mrs. D. E. Whitney will read "Minich" by Edna Ferber.

FIRE DEPARTMENT DANCE PLEASING

Very Successful, Both From a Social And Financial Viewpoint

"ROCKY MT. ENTERTAINERS"

Denver, Colorado, KOA Radio Broadcasting Orchestra, Furnishes Music

The dance given by the Brainerd Fire Department on Friday evening was very well attended, and is reported as being highly successful, both from a social and financial viewpoint.

"The Rocky Mountain Entertainers," famous because of being featured by KOA radio broadcasting station, Denver, Colorado, furnished the music for the firemen's dance, and received many high compliments on their playing. This is the first appearance of the entertainers in this section, but wherever they have played they have been urged to return for a second and even a third engagement. The orchestra is composed of six pieces, three of the members doubling on other instruments.

Hose Company No. 1, of the local fire department will give its annual ball Thanksgiving, plans for which are already well under way. This is always a big event in the autumn social season, and will be awaited with a keen interest.

The Brainerd Fire Department is making arrangements for another big dance to be staged on January 15th, and promises the public a mighty pleasant time, with good music and the best of order maintained.

U. S. STEEL SHOWS STRENGTH

New York, Nov. 7.—United States Steel headed another outburst of strength in the week end session achieving a further record high at 139 1/4. The public's imagination was fired by the impressive character of this leadership and buying orders flowed into Wall street in increasing volume, stirring up extraordinary activity in the entire industrial list.

Speculative enthusiasm was additionally stimulated by the optimistic character of the weekly mercantile reviews, which reported further increases in the business turnover with the expectation of record holiday trade. This glowing picture helped along the forward movement which proceeded with considerable violence in the first hour.

Heavy profit taking set in in the last hour, however, checking the advance and resulting in substantial recessions in the leading industrial stocks.

But this reaction was a normal technical development in view of the sweeping character of the week's advances and the setback failed to exercise a depressing effect on the general confidence prevailing in the financial community.

The market closed lower.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 7.—(UP)—No direct word had been received here early today from the missing wooden barge J. L. Crane, carrying a crew of six men and a woman cook, which broke loose from the Steamer Hettler during a heavy storm on Lake Superior yesterday. With a report from Captain McLeod of the steamer Widener, which arrived here last night, that he had sighted an overturned yawl similar to one carried by the crane, it was feared the craft had been driven against the rocks near Crisp Point, "Graveyard of the Great Lakes," and destroyed.

Play of Statz Escaped
Notice During Excitement

Bert Niehoff, manager of Atlanta Southern association, was asked recently what he considered was the greatest play he ever witnessed. Niehoff, who has spent many years in baseball and played a great many games in a great many places, picked out one.

"Arnold Statz made this play for Los Angeles," said Niehoff. "The score was in our favor and the last half of the ninth inning was being played. The opposing club had the tying run on the bases. It was so dark the ball could scarcely be seen and it was certain that another inning could not be played.

"Two men were out when a long line drive was hit to the outfield to the right of Statz and some distance from him. But he was off with the crack of the bat after the ball, running at top speed. Statz is one of the fastest men in baseball.

"It didn't seem he could reach the ball, but he did, snatching it from the very top of the grass with his bare hand while running at top speed. He never stopped running on the ball field. He turned and ran into the clubhouse with the baseball in his hand.

"I say that is the greatest play I ever saw, but the newspapers never even mentioned it."

"So say they all!"

To date—conservatively calculated—250,000 owners...

Not such an impressive total as automobile registrations, en masse, are recorded today...

But—Wilys-Knight owners are not "mass" owners...

They are a select lot. Select, and selective.

The motor-car sophisticated. An owner-group value-wise.

Ask any Wilys-Knight owner why he bought his Wilys-Knight...

Ask him for a full and frank expression as to the satisfaction he has had in his car...

Ask him about engine-repair bills—about enforced lay-ups because of valve-grinding or carbon cleaning...

Question him about performance—about the condition of his engine, at 5,000 miles, at 25,000-and-50,000, at 75,000 miles or better...

And, above all, ask "If you ever had to buy another, what car would you next buy?"

An overwhelming majority of Wilys-Knight owners will tell you they bought their present Wilys-Knights for one of two reasons—

Either they had previous first-hand experience with another Wilys-

Knight, or because one or more other owners told them in emphatic terms a Wilys-Knight was the car they ought to buy!...

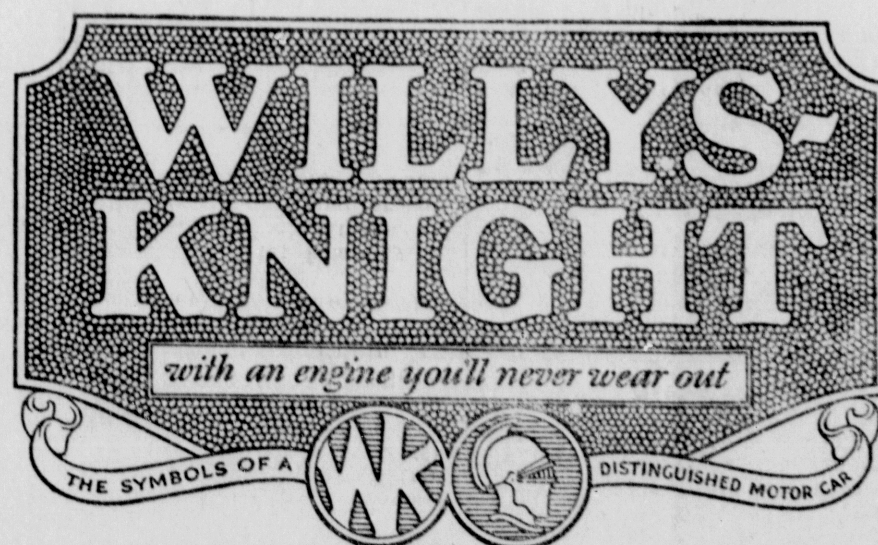

Anyone of the quarter-of-a-million will tell you that the service he has enjoyed has been literally flawless, through his entire period of ownership—that his engine-repair bills have been practically nil. As for valve-grinding or carbon complications of any character, these are outside his experience. He has never expended a dollar because of either, nor has he been without the use of his car for a day or a single hour!...

There has yet to be discovered the Wilys-Knight owner who does not appear to exaggerate when the question of performance is to the fore. A sweet-running car, powerful, quiet, smooth, from the first turn of the engine—at 5,000 miles, as at 25,000—to 50,000, it is still more powerful, still smoother, still quieter. And at 75,000 miles-and-over, an even greater improvement is in evidence. For this car is driven by the patented Knight sleeve-valve engine, the only motor-mechanism that improves with use—the only engine that, up to a mileage-point still undetermined after 16 years' use, increases in power, increases in smooth and silent running, increases in all-around efficiency with every mile!...

"Another Wilys-Knight"—this is the answer, inevitably, to the query as to what car any one of the 250,000 present Wilys-Knight owners again would buy. Extraordinary satisfaction. Extraordinary performance. Extraordinary long life. Naturally, your Wilys-Knight owner is an enthusiastic owner. And he is steadfast in his loyalty. He will buy another Wilys-Knight. He will recommend the same course to all who inquire.

He knows that neither you nor he can realize such perennially magnificent service in any other car!

NEW RULES MILL CITY GRAIN TRADE

Minneapolis, Nov. 7.—(UP)—New rules governing grain transactions have been adopted by the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce.

Storage capacity is increased by 20,000,000 bushels and utilization of most favorable freight rates to Chicago is made possible by the arrangement.

U. S. STEEL SHOWS STRENGTH

New York, Nov. 7.—United States Steel headed another outburst of strength in the week end session achieving a further record high at 139½. The public's imagination was fired by the impressive character of this leadership and buying orders flowed into Wall street in increasing volume, stirring up extraordinary activity in the entire industrial list.

Speculative enthusiasm was additionally stimulated by the optimistic character of the weekly mercantile reviews, which reported further increases in the business turnover with the expectation of record holiday trade. This glowing picture helped along the forward movement which proceeded with considerable violence in the first hour.

Heavy profit taking set in in the last hour, however, checking the advance and resulting in substantial recessions in the leading industrial stocks.

But this reaction was a normal technical development in view of the sweeping character of the week's advances and the setback failed to exercise a depressing effect on the general confidence prevailing in the financial community.

The market closed lower.

BARGE BROKE
LOOSE IN STORMCARRIED 6 MEN AND WOMAN
COOK, ADRIFT IN LAKE SUPERIOR

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 7.—(UP)—No direct word had been received here early today from the missing wooden barge J. L. Crane, carrying a crew of six men and a woman cook, which broke loose from the Steamer Hettler during a heavy storm on Lake Superior yesterday. With a report from Captain McLeod of the steamer Widener, which arrived here last night, that he had sighted an overturned yawl similar to one carried by the crane, it was feared the craft had been driven against the rocks near Crisp Point, "Graveyard of the Great Lakes," and destroyed.

New York—Black Bill, Cuban fly-weight, will meet Jimmy Russo of Grand Rapids in a 10 round clash at the Commonwealth club tonight. The main event of the Ridgewood Grover sporting club will see Ben Hur Hall, the St. Louis bantamweight, mixing it up with Wilbur Cohan of Harlem.

Germany has a League of Bicycle Riders.

Mr. Peckinpaugh is named the most valuable player in the league in 1925. He will be recalled as the gentleman who usually shows up in the box-score as P'k'g or something.

Rogers Hornsby, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and champion batter of the National league, is the 1925 home-run champion of the major leagues. The St. Louis star hit 39.

For their winter exercise the channel swimmers might try the route from Key West to Havana.

A New York runner has it that Babe Ruth is to join the police force there. Mr. Ruth has demonstrated marked ability in a pinch.

A good way to lecture a golfer is to tell him that after the golf season has closed he can get just as good exercise by swinging a snow shovel.

Play of Statz Escaped
Notice During Excitement

Bert Niehoff, manager of Atlanta, Southern association, was asked recently what he considered was the greatest play he ever witnessed. Niehoff, who has spent many years in baseball and played a great many games in a great many places, picked out one.

"Arnold Statz made this play for Los Angeles," said Niehoff. "The score was in our favor and the last half of the ninth inning was being played. The opposing club had the tying run on the bases. It was so dark the ball could scarcely be seen and it was certain that another inning could not be played.

"Two men were out when a long line drive was hit to the outfield to the right of Statz and some distance from him. But he was off with the crack of the bat after the ball, running at top speed. Statz is one of the fastest men in baseball.

"It didn't seem he could reach the ball, but he did, snatching it from the very top of the grass with his bare hand while running at top speed. He never stopped running on the ball field. He turned and ran into the clubhouse with the baseball in his hand.

"I say that is the greatest play I ever saw, but the newspapers never even mentioned it."
